Global eProcure is recognized for Work Transforming Companies' Supply Chains

CLARK, NJ, July 30, 2008

Once again, Global eProcure was named to Supply and Demand Chain Executive Magazine's prestigious Executive 100 Listing. This year the magazine focused the criteria for its "100" feature on supply chain innovation. "Our readers turn to Supply & Demand Chain Executive to learn about new solutions and best practices for enabling the supply chain, to understand trends in supply chain technology, and to benchmark their own companies' enablement initiatives with those of other enterprises across industry verticals," explained Andrew K. Reese, editor of Supply & Demand Chain Executive. "The corporate executives and line-of-business leaders who rely on the magazine want to know what the different supply chain solution and service providers are doing to help them meet the challenges of the 21st century supply chain."

Supply & Demand Chain Executive has identified leading providers of supply chain services and technologies who are at the forefront of innovation. Based on submissions to the "100" from end users and solution providers, the judging committee for the "100," including the editorial staff of the magazine, in conjunction with the editorial advisory board, has compiled a list of leading supply and demand chain innovators.

"We are very pleased and honored to be recognized again by Supply and Demand Chain Executive Magazine for our work. After nearly 10 years of working closely with companies in nearly every industry, having our work recognized in this forum is extremely gratifying," said Global eProcure COO, JT Turimella. "We've seen the supply chain market change considerably as new entrants have come and gone with their respective solutions. Global eProcure has become a profitable and growing mainstay in the business primarily because we saw early on the value of the SaaS delivery model and the benefits of bringing professional services tailored to a customer's needs."

"Our goal with this year's '100' is to highlight a broad range of solutions and services targeted at a variety of industries, addressing the needs of companies of varying sizes, and assisting in the transformation of a diverse mix of the functions that make up the supply chain," added Reese. "Therefore, our judging committee looked for solutions across a variety of industries, addressing the needs of companies of varying sizes, and assisting in the transformation of a diverse mix of the functions that make up the supply chain."

Global eProcure's next wave approach to supply chain innovation incorporates procurement technology focusing on the most critical features, supplemented with a total view on cost reduction that can involve components of business process re-engineering, low cost country sourcing, outsourcing, or any other aspects adopted by a best-in-class procurement department. High profile customers such as Kellogg's, Saint Gobain, L'Oreal, and Nike demonstrate the success Global eProcure has had using its tailored approach to transforming procurement within the supply chain.
